DESPERATE AFFRAY.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY REPORTED FROM ROCKBRIDGE.

ported from Brownsburg in this county, with two deaths and others fatally and seriously wounded. The particulars of the affair as reported here are that Henry Miller, one of the oldest and most highly respected well-to-do farmers of Brownsburg, was charged with offering an insult to the wife of Dr. Z. J. Walker, of the same place. Walker, being told of the matter, publicly threatened the ric of Miller, and, it is said, hunted for Miller with a gun. Miller heard of this, and this evening had Walker arrested and brought before a instice of the peace. There were present had Walker arrested and brought before a justice of the peace. There were present Miller and two of his sons and a number of friends; Dr. Walker, his wife, his friends, and many spectators.

When the case had been heard, the Justice announced his purpose to place Dr. Walker under a peace bond for 500, or send him to prison. Thereupon Walker refused to give the bond or go to jail.

THE CRITICAL MOMENT

was then at hand. Pistols and knives were produced with fatal results. Miller was killed instantly, as was the wife of Dr. Walker. Dr. Walker was mortally wounded, and two sons of Miller and Samnel Deaver were shot and dangerously wounded, and others were hurt. Who it was that opened the fight or killed the parties is not stated, nor is it announced. If Mrs. Walker was deliberately shot or hit by a stray shot is a mystery.

All the parties are well-to-do and highly connected. More trouble is feared. The town is in charge of the sheriff and a posse to keep the peace.

Full particulars cannot be obtained yet. It is said just before the fight began some one opened a window and threw in a number of pistols. Dr. Walker is one of the leading men of Rockbridge, and was late a member of the State Medical Board.

Mrs. Bowles is very popular, and is always sure of a crowded auditorium wherever she speaks. Indeed, the advice which John Wesley gave to a woman preacher in his day might fittingly be given her. The counsel of the quaint old preacher was: "Do not speak at any place where a man is preaching at the same time, lest you draw away his hearers." In all that she undertakes Mrs. Bowles is prompt and incisive, and in private life is as constant in good works as she is able in public, in inspiring others to all worthy endeavor.

STEAMER BUN DOWN NEAR OLD POINT.

The steamer Excelsior, running between Norfelk and this city, was run down yesterday evening while just off Old Point Comfort, by the "Maria Tanner." an English training steamer. The Excelsior is owned by the Potomac Steamship Compony, and its captain is 8. B. Davis. The Excelsior was considerably damaged, her port state-room and wheel-house being carried away, but was able to proceed on her way, and reached here about 10 o'clock last night. About thirty or forty passengers were on board, although a little shaken up and scared no one was hurt. Captain Davis claimed that the Tanner was properly signalized and acknowledged the signal, but did not change her course in time, as she should. named Cuteries was shot and killed by two custom guards, who call the refused to stop and be searched on the refused to stop and be searched on the road be ween Mier and Camarog. PRICE, TWO CENTS. THE TERRIBLE SNOW.

NEW MEXICO VISITED BY A FLEECY CYCLONE.

a Level-Cattle and Sheep Destroyed by the Thousand-Horrible Story of Devas

CLAYTON, N. M., November 8.—Unless the snow storm, which has been raging for eight days, comes to an end soon, next summer will show a country covered with the dead bodies of animals as thickly as was the old Santa Fe trail in the sixties. The snow is twenty-six inches deep on the level, and in many places it has drifted seven feet high. For eight days the storm has been raging. When it struck this section seven large herds of cattle, numbering from 400 to 2,000, were being held near this place awaiting shipment to eastern markets. The rain of a week ago Wednesday was followed Thursday morning by blizzards of snow and sleet, which sent the herds in a southerly direction. In vain did the cow boys try to check them.
On they went through the increasing storm until finding it utterly impossible to held the cattle, the boys rode aside and let them nass, and nearly dead rode their exhausted horses in canons or partially sheltered places, where they passed many hours in misery without food or fire. Two cowboys drifted into a canon, where they found a cedar free with a rat's nest in it.
They managed to light a fire with this.

Two Mexican sheep herders have been found frozen to death. Two men coming in yesterday morning report drifts in some places seven and eight feet high in which are hundreds of dead stock. Whole herd of sheep are completely wiped out of existence, and the range for thirty miles is covered with their carcasses. It is estimated that 20,000 sheep have perished in this part of the Territory. At present it is impossible to clearly estimate the number of cattle lost, but it will probably be up in the thousands. Every place of shelter in town is being used as barns for snow-bound horses. The hay supply is nearly exhausted. Yesterday $100 per ton was offered and refused.

At Textline, nine miles below Clayton, two passengers are compelled to venture out in the storm to kill eattle, the quarters of which are taken into the cars and roasted. It is thought a snow plow will reach the imprisoned trains to-day and release them. The storm is by far the worst ever known in New Mexico, and the exact loss of life and property cannot at present be estimated.
